Biting and Devouring

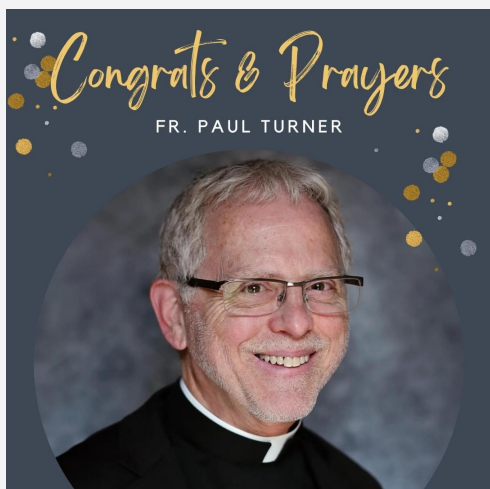

We are hard on our elected officials. They do not do enough about unemployment. They have not improved the safety of our streets. They have not done enough for education. Gas prices are too high. It is easy to put the blame on someone who holds an office. But we often forget one thing. We put them there.

Throughout a campaign season, candidates appeal for our vote. Their approach is not always complimentary. They sling mud because they know we appreciate a candidate who is tough. They promise us more money in our pockets because they know we do not want to lose any to people who do not deserve it. In the worst cases, if they are caught lying, stealing, and taking advantage of a position of authority, they are guilty of a crime to which we all contributed: the crime of greed, selfishness, and materialism that has stained the character of our society.

All too often we live by the flesh, not by the Spirit. St. Paul would shake his head. “Live by the Spirit,” he says. “The flesh has desires against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh.” Too many of us bite and devour one another. For Paul, the Christian law is not summed up in this: “Whoever dies with the most toys wins.” But in this: “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

We will have a better quality of government when we share better values among ourselves.
