MAKING MISERY PUBLIC

Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Leviticus 13:1–2, 44–46

Lepers lived in misery. At the time of Moses, people showing symptoms of leprosy had to present themselves to Aaron the priest. If he diagnosed that they had contracted the disease, the law had very specific expectations. They had to live apart from everyone else, wear tattered garments, keep their head exposed, and cry out, “Unclean!” wherever they went.

Having an illness is bad enough. But calling attention to it is worse. Most of us try to hide our conditions. We medicate ourselves before going to work. We apply makeup over blemishes. We conceal hair loss. We prefer to have people think we’re “normal.” We don’t want them to stare. We don’t want them to know.

Lepers could not do that. Their contagion threatened the life of the community. Defeated by illness, embarrassed by publicity, shamed by society, they lived in misery.

Still, they observed what the law required. They made their condition public. They did it in service to others, who needed to know.

We all have something wrong with us. We get very skilled at hiding it. But sometimes it helps people to know. It may help them know they are not alone. It can help them help us overcome the feelings of defeat.

We are told that after the sonogram there is a 90% decision rate to give birth vs an abortion.
